The insurgents were again defeated and dispersed, but the direction in which they fled is not known. Their loss was 232 killed and one taken prisoner. "A column from the battalion of Navarro, under command of Lieut. Perera to-day (the 29th) had an engagement with the enemy near Colimete. It resulted in a serious action, with the forces under Maximino Gomez, who greatly outnumbered our forces. The column drove the enemy back and captured the positions held by them on the Soderne estate and the enemy was forced to scatter.

"The column which was composed of 850 men had an officer and four men killed and 20 officers and 60 men wounded, all of whom were taken to Colimete. An hour after the engagement, cannon shots were heard in the direction of the Maria estate. It is believed that the same body of rebels had an engagement with the forces under Col. Molina."

The report has it that the insurgents were surrounded by Spanish troops under Gens. Suarez, Valez, Madan and Navarro, and it is believed they met with a complete defeat. No details of the fight can be obtained. It is said that the rebel leader Nunez was killed in Tuesday's battle with Gen. Navarro's forces, and that the rebels lost 200 men.

FOR A STATE.

Oklahoma Delegates Meet in Oklahoma City.

Neariy as Many Schemes to Attain Statehood as Delegates.

Bitter Fight Between Rival Towns for the State Capital—The Delegates Resolve Themselves Into a Mob and Adjourn Without Permanently Organizing.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok. T., Jan. 9.—The statehood convention which was called to order here Wednesday promised to be the warmest gathering ever held in the territory. Nearly all of the delegates are in favor of statehood for Oklahoma, but there are almost as many schemes for attaining it as there are delegates. Ever since Oklahoma was first opened to settlement there has been an intense rivalry between the different towns.

Congress provided that the first legislature of Oklahoma should meet at Guthrie and fix the territorial capital. Then began a fight of the bitterest kind between the different towns. Legislatures voted the capital three times to Oklahoma City and once to Kingfisher, but Gov. Steele vetoed it every time and the capital remains at Guthrie.

The location of the future capital of Oklahoma as a state, will depend largely on the boundary lines of the new state. If a state is made of Oklahoma with its present boundaries, Kingfisher or El Reno would be near the center, and would stand better chances for the capital than either Perry, Guthrie or Oklahoma City, on the extreme eastern edge of the state. So Kingfisher and El Reno favor immediate statehood of Oklahoma with its present boundaries and the Perry, Guthrie and Oklahoma City people are against it.

Wednesday night the delegates resolved themselves into a mob and adjourned the convention sine die before a permanent organization could be made.
